

Stow Minster Lecture

Pagans, Pennies and Power: evidence of the Viking Great Army

Dr Johanne Porter,
Research Fellow,
University of East Anglia

Saturday 13th June 2026

4pm start, followed by refreshments

Stow Minster: a church of huge archaeological, historical and spiritual significance, near Lincoln

In the sublime setting of Stow Minster, Dr Johanne Porter will share her research and insights into our Viking history. Afterwards, join us for refreshments, see our Viking graffiti, and speak with a guide about the history of this ancient church. We'll also update you on the progress made towards setting up a Friends of Stow Minster as we launch our Action Group.

For parking on the day, look out for the signs and our marshalls.

To register your interest, and ask any questions, please email Revd Jane Foster-Smith at Jane.Foster-Smith@lincoln.anglican.org.

If you'd like to make a day of your visit to Stow, we can recommend the pub opposite the Minster, the Cross Keys, for lunch or evening meal (serving from 6pm) and Sturton-by-Stow has a wonderful café open at lunchtime, the Tillbridge Tastery. St. Edith's Church, Coates is also nearby with an outdoor space for picnics and is well worth a visit for its medieval rood screen and peaceful setting.
